

Cosy Club

Cosy Club is owned by the hospitality group, Loungers, in England specialising in memorable restaurant bars. This project offers British expats a slice of home, here in Brisbane, on Queen Street, located in a heritage listed building .

Cosy Club has the traditional authenticity of the Loungers brand identity and also encapsulates British style. The use of patterned wallpaper and rich brown tones creates a sense of warmth and cosiness along with the leather furniture and accent lighting. The timber screen next to the stage acts as an acoustic barrier to block out loud sounds - this design solution maximises all the space within the building. The repeated use of arches adds softness and personality throughout. Timber arches in the booth seating creates privacy; creating a variety of seating arrangements within the space.

Overall, this concept demonstrates the beauty of the heritage listed building, featuring the columns and skylights, while creating a grand, elegant and inviting British bar.
